

Naty Hernández NATIVA

Singer-songwriter and multi-instrumentalist Natty Hernandez “Nativa” brings back the bohemian sound of pop songs from Shakira’s and Julieta Venegas early music in a show where shows her talent playing different instruments.

Her sweet voice evokes the nature of the female spirit but her way to play shows a powerful women who catch her audience. Her compositions includes sounds from traditional music from her hometown, Colombia.

Her song “Manos de Agua” was in the Top 20 radio charts in “Radio Nacional de Colombia” and is part of the Berklee YouTube Channel. She won in 2018 the Women In Music Award - Chapter Colombia, and, She graduated with full-scholarship from Berklee College of Music as Songwriter and from EAFIT University as jazz guitarist.

She has performed in Mexico, Colombia, Panama, Peru, and, the U.S. in such events as Panama Jazz Festival, Boston Book Fest, Global Philanthropy Forum, Colombian Embassy in US, as well as multiples concerts.

NATIVA

Click Here

Contact

info@nativamusic.com

+1 857 294 64 44

www.nativamusic.com

Available on Spotify

@nativamusic